Living life in its fullness at Nutgrove

Look at what our new Reception class has been getting up to this week

European Day of Languages

Monday 26th September will be European Day of Languages. In school, we are planning a celebration of all languages, especially heritage languages and those that you might speak at home. We are hoping that children will share a song or poem or even how to say 'Welcome' in their heritage language. It would be lovely if they would share this with their class or with the whole school during our special assembly that week.

Please let your class teacher know if your child would be happy to celebrate their other language or languages with us.

Safeguarding Updates

We have shared a link online on how to discuss with your children what is safe to talk about online.

Attendance in 2022-2023

In line with updated Government guidance for schools regarding attendance there is an increased responsibility on all schools when it comes to monitoring attendance and punctuality following the pandemic.

Attendance is important. It is a life skill. Children from a very early age need to know that attending school and as they get older work is essential in getting by in life. The attendance ladder below highlights children's percentage attendance in relation to how many days they may have been absent during the school year

FACT: The more time your child spends in school, the better your child's attainment.
